

Experience

Ron Friedberg is an accomplished business litigator and trial attorney with a practice focused on construction, surety, contract, real estate, employment, and other business disputes. He handles business and commercial litigation matters before federal and state courts throughout Ohio as well as in mediation and arbitration proceedings. Ron represents individuals and public and privately held companies of all types and sizes, including contractors, sureties and insurance companies, manufacturers, commercial and residential property owners and developers, financial institutions, architects, engineers, and other professional service providers. Ron's paramount objective in representing clients is to obtain the most favorable business results, through settlement where possible and through trial when necessary. When representing plaintiffs, Ron works to maximize recovery, and when representing defendants, he strives to avoid or minimize loss. In all cases, he dedicates himself to achieving the desired results as efficiently and cost-effectively as possible.

Ron's formula for successful resolution of business disputes combines strong oral and written communication and advocacy skills, the determination and drive to know the applicable facts and law sooner and better than the other side, and the ability to objectively assess risk and the strengths and weaknesses of both sides' positions early in the process. He recognizes the need for pragmatic and oftentimes creative thinking and problem-solving to favorably resolve matters. Ron also understands the importance of listening to and communicating with clients, and encouraging clients' active participation from the inception of a matter to its conclusion.

When he is not practicing law, Ron enjoys yoga, running, skiing, seeing movies and live music, and cheering for Cleveland's professional sports teams, even more so when accompanied by family or friends. He also loves to read for pleasure (mysteries and thrillers are his favorites), especially when poolside or on a beach.
