

Experience

As legal counsel for The Builders Exchange and Home Builders Association, Russell O'Rourke's 30+ years of active involvement in construction industry trade associations – understanding both the requirements of the law and the business savvy to successfully operate within the industry—have allowed him to serve in the roles of client and industry advisor, advocate and leader. His active engagement has also translated into driving and contributing to legislative issues for the benefit of the construction industry, recognizing the issues that are most important to his clients and advising them of various approaches and resolution options using good business judgment.

Russell represents contractors, subcontractors, suppliers, homebuilders and remodelers throughout all stages of the process – “cradle to grave” – bidding, contract negotiation, change orders, claims and claims avoidance, mechanics' liens, bond claims and dispute resolution.

Outside the office, Russell and his wife enjoy traveling domestically and internationally together as well as traveling with their children and grandchildren on holiday cruises.

Representative Matters

- Represented a contractor through negotiation in a dispute with the project owner, promptly affording the resolution of a $1.2 million payment due to the contractor in two months and full payment of $300,000 to satisfy all subcontractors and suppliers with minimal legal fees.
- Represented a contractor in the negotiation of construction agreements for two nursing homes to be simultaneously constructed and assisted the contractor with the resolution of on-the-job disputes to satisfactorily resolve the claims, avoid litigation and maintain the owner/contractor relationship.
- Represented a contractor in obtaining and recovering a $290,000+ verdict for unabsorbed home-office overhead expenses in a delay claim.
- Successfully negotiated a settlement in a claim for a violation of the Home Solicitation Sales Act for a home remodeler eliminating the risk of loss at trial, including the likelihood of having to pay plaintiff's attorneys fees in addition to damages and the statutory obligation for the repayment of money already paid to the remodeler and revised the client's contracts to avoid future violations.
- Assist numerous subcontractors and suppliers in preparing and serving Notices of Furnishing to help them be paid in full and on time and to preserve their lien and bond rights in the event that payment is not properly made.
- Assist subcontractors and suppliers in collecting unpaid balances by preparing and filing mechanic's liens and bond claims totaling, on average, more than $8 million annually.
