

Experience

Peter Turner is an experienced trial attorney representing clients in complex business disputes and commercial litigation through all forms of dispute resolution. His practice focuses on disputes based on contract, tort, internal governance, ownership and succession issues, employment, professional liability, unfair competition, trade secrets and construction, UCC and banking practices matters. He strives to settle matters and assist clients in making cost-effective business decisions through reasonable compromise. If the situation calls for adversarial proceedings, Peter represents parties in state and federal courts throughout Ohio before judges and juries as well as in all forms of alternative/non-judicial dispute resolution proceedings.

As a result of the Peter's experience in jury and bench trials as well as arbitration and administrative proceedings, he has developed a strong understanding of courtroom rules and procedures and effectively applied that experience when handling such matters. Peter has a proven track record of demonstrated composure and poise through many adversarial situations. He maintains an ongoing flow of communication with clients so as to avoid surprises. Peter advises his clients on not only the legal aspects associated with the risks, challenges and potential outcomes of the situation but also provides guidance to clients on their role while striving to remain objective and credible throughout the process.

Peter is married with two grown sons. He enjoys spending time with family and recently welcomed his first grandchild. Peter enjoys playing and watching sports, in particular golf, and reading all types of books, especially mysteries and history.
