

Experience

Deanna DiPetta has over 33 years of experience in divorce and dissolution, custody and visitation litigation, and adoption. Deana brings a wealth of recognized experience to the firm's domestic relations practice including a strong background in negotiating and litigating a broad spectrum of financial issues:

dividing complex marital estates, investment properties, business interests, unusual investments, mineral rights, complicated retirement plans, and separate property issues. She has a broad and deep understanding of the complexities of domestic relations law including:

- Evaluating business and partnership interests for division in divorce
- Researching and analyzing records to identify misappropriated or hidden marital assets
- Drafting, interpreting and evaluating the enforceability of prenuptial agreements
- Crafting tailored temporary and permanent spousal and child support plans
- Allocating parental rights and responsibilities
- Resolving parental relocation challenges
- Settling custody matters requiring psychological expert testimony
- Addressing domestic violence matters
- Handling post-decree issues of enforcement and non-disclosed or omitted assets
